WARRANT In This Issue

The official warrant for the March 9 annual Town Meeting is printed on pages 6, 7, 8 and 9 of this issue of the TOWNSMAN.

A supplemental warrant is being drawn which will include a few articles decided on too late for the initial listing. These articles will be published later in the month as a public service.

The Town Meeting follows by five days the annual municipal election which will be held March 4 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

News Capsules

The Selectmen this week authorized application for a $124,100 interest-free loan from the federal government for preparation of plans and specs for a filtration plant at Haggetts Pond to process about 10,000,000 gallons of water a day. Town Meeting approval was voted last year.

The plant will be necessary when Andover's wells and reservoirs can no longer meet the demand for water, forcing the town to draw from the Merrimack River.

It is estimated now that the plant will cost an estimated $3,100,000. Andover will have to repay the loan when the filtration facility is actually built.

Raytheon Co. has been awarded contracts totaling $21,539,231 for the Hawk and Sparrow missile systems from the Department of Defense.

Awards include a $9,254,000 contract for advanced production and engineering services on the Improved Hawk air-defense missile system; a $2,241,390 contract for product assurance on the Improved Hawk; a $1,349,841 contract for industrial engineering services for the Hawk missile system; and an $8,694,000 letter contract for Sparrow III missiles and related equipment for the U.S. Navy and Air Force.

Work on the Hawk contracts will be done at the company's plants

Newman was educated at MIT and Boston College Law School. Prior to entering the practice of law, he was a development engineer in the fields of radar and atomic energy and subsequently became a consultant to management, concerned with the managerial problems of private business.

Many of his clients, who call upon his services for contract negotiations and fiscal matters, are in the fields of industry and building construction.

Newman's interest in education has led him to make independent surveys of academic programs and facilities in top-rated public school systems and to review instructional and curriculum programs in these school systems.

He has addressed a number of organizations and PTA's on such subjects as "Evaluation of Public School Systems".

River Compromise Wins Acceptance

After more than two years of debate and delay, Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover quietly agreed last week to formation of a river pollution abatement district organized according to a plan for representation and control proposed by Philip K. Allen, chairman of the Andover Board of Selectmen.

Elected officials in all four communities have since voted formal acceptance of the basic plan, opening the way for progress toward construction of a $22 million filtration plant to purify sewage which is now dumped into the Merrimack River without treatment. Representatives from each have been appointed to meet Thursday with Mayor Daniel P. Kiley of Lawrence to make changes in draft legislation which must be at the State House by next week to meet the General Court deadline for the current session. Chairman Allen will represent Andover at the Lawrence conference.

Referendum votes will have to be taken in all four municipalities, however, before formation of the district becomes a certainty.

Full Circle

Having gone full circle, the towns of Andover, Methuen and North Andover accepted the 3-2-1-1 formula for representation that all initially rejected because selectmen in the three communities feared that the City of Lawrence, with three members, would be in a position to wrest control of the district board. The towns shifted positions, however, because of compromises built into the Allen proposal.

Mediator Arriving Thursday

School Committee and AEA negotiators will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday with a mediator from the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation in an attempt to resolve differences that have prevented agreement on a 1968 contract with teaching professionals.

Frederick Fitzgerald, chief negotiator for the school committee, told other members of the board on Tuesday that the SC and the AEA have reached tentative agreement on 16 proposals including such items as sick leave, rights of non-tenure teachers and professional leave. He said there is still disagreement over salaries for teachers, department heads and counselors, medical personnel and

School Budget Is Trimmed

The Finance Committee put the pressure on the School Committee Tuesday night to cut or justify its $4 million school budget, but more justifying than cutting had been done when the schoolmen adjourned after midnight.

They trimmed off $143,000, and added $9000, for a total reduction of $134,000, most of it coming from the $125,000 item for junior high repair. The School Committee unanimously voted to cut this figure down to $15,000 (for roof repair) once they had been assured that the Finance Committee strongly backed the $500,000 article inserted in the Town Meeting warrant for necessary repairs to the building. The tentative school budget stands at $3,927,000.

Dr. Albert Greenberg, spokesman for the FinCom and a candidate for School Committee, said that the school budget accounts for $6 of the projected $9 rise in the tax rate. He questioned the necessity for providing for an assistant superintendent for secondary schools this year and/or the $10,000 professional negotiation expense item. He also pressed schoolmen to learn whether or not a library coordinator is necessary since the committee has provided for fulltime librarians in all schools. He wanted reconsideration of the jobs and salaries of the fulltime social worker and the psychologist and psychiatrist, provided until February by federal funds under Title I.

The School Committee did not touch the assistant superintendent and the professional negotiation items, which total $17,000. It took the stand that the system does need a library coordinator to develop a full library program and this more especially since the schools would have fulltime librarians. Regarding guidance and psychological help, Superintendent Edward Erickson replied to FinCom chairman David Thompson that public schools are obliged by law to take all children into the schools, and certainly felt obliged to provide children with problems and their parents with trained help. Asst. Supt. Vaughn Clapp, pointed out that even with the new guidance counselor provided for in the budget, the 1-750 ratio would still be well below the desirable ratio.

Cuts made in the salary budget were mostly downward adjustments to reflect current salary scale proposals, or part-of-year employment, affecting custodians, some teachers and a principal for the Bancroft School. One clerical and one custodial position were eliminated.

Except for the junior high repair item, the School Committee cut only $2000 from the $858,452 school expense budget, and this came from the students' field trip budget, underspent last year.

Added to the tentative budget was $2000 for professional leaves for teachers, and $7000 for the swimming program. This includes $4000 for the present swimming program at the Phillips Academy pool and $3000 to provide for a swimming program for exceptional students, if proper program and supervision can be arranged.

Supervisor of general services Jack Berberian defended a $2000 expense item which represents the school administration's desire for continued use of a rented bookkeeping machine, instead of beginning to use Town Hall equipment for centralized financial operations. Berberian claimed that records from the town have been "late and inaccurate."

Town Manager Richard Bowen told the TOWNSMAN Wednesday that this would be paying for duplication of services, since the town machine is now doing all of the school bookkeeping except for encumbrances. He said that the town rented the other bookkeeping machine for the schools to use last year until the town could be ready to take on school bookkeeping, and that he has informed the school department that the town operation is now ready and that budget includes funds for an extra person in the accounting department.

Bowen pointed out that the charter calls for centralized financial operation of all town departments, including the school department, that this is why the town's complex bookkeeping machine was bought. He added that Town Counsel Frederic S. O'Brien has said that in his opinion, the school department cannot legally authorize rental of the machine.

Candidate Is Criticized

Dr. Albert Greenberg, one of six candidates for the School Committee, is coming in for some criticism from other candidates and their supporters because of his budget activities with the Finance Committee, of which he is already a member.

As a member of the Fin Com, Dr. Greenberg has easy access to school department figures that other candidates would have to go out of their way to obtain. In addition, as the Watchdog's spokesman in 1968 budget dealings with the School Committee, he is in a position to collect campaign fodder and express his views on school matters in open meetings.

Complaints have been received at Town Hall about his dual role.

the ice hockey staff. The Andover Education Assn.'s chief negotiator, Bruce MacDonald confirmed Wednesday that tentative agreement has been reached on some 16 proposals. He said that there are some 20 proposals, most of them relating to working conditions, on which there is not agreement, however. MacDonald, who is a teacher at Andover High School, said that it was the stalemate on these items which prompted the AEA to request the services of a mediator. Such proposals as those on non-teaching duties, teacher load, promotions and the organization of a curriculum council were listed by MacDonald as among the major points on which the AEA and the SC must still negotiate. Salary terms are also in dispute, but observers on both sides have expressed the opinion that salary differences will be resolved quickly if there is agreement on other key items on the list of working conditions.

School contract negotiations have been suspended for several weeks. Meanwhile, the school budget has been drawn to allow for a $6200 bachelor's minimum and personnel increases that would result from a $400 hike in the base pay.

Hockey Team Will Travel

The Andover Hockey Assn. will conduct a door-to-door canvass on Feb. 10 and 11 to raise funds for a Canadian tour, the major event on the Andover team's schedule this season.

The tour will include games in Toronto on Feb. 19 and 20 and in Niagara Falls, Ont. on Feb. 22 and 23. Before returning home on Feb. 24, the team will see a National Hockey League game between the Maple Leafs and St. Louis and an Ontario Junior Hockey Assn. game in Niagara Falls. Andover players will also tour the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto in addition to participating in other educational and recreational activities.

This will be the second Canadian tour for top players, members of the Bantam "A" team which includes boys aged 12-14. Last year the association arranged a similar playing tour for the 1967 team. Until this year the AHA conducted its local program almost exclusively with registration fees paid by participants and contributions from local residents for special projects.

Gym Team Performing

The championship Andover High School Girls' Gymnastics Team will perform at a Sports' night program for the South School PTA on Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

The team will demonstrate its championship form on the trampoline, balance beam and in tumbling and free exercise. Currently undefeated, the girls are working toward winning their third state title in as many years. Their coach is Miss Barbara Bloren.

Students in grades five and six may attend the PTA program if

This year, to show its gratitude for previous support, the association is sponsoring an evening concert by the West Point Cader Glee Club at Tenney Memorial High School Auditorium in Methuen on March 9.

Players will have tickets for this event when they canvass on Saturday and Sunday. The organization hopes to raise the bulk of the $2000 necessary for its Canadian trip during the two day solicitation.

Richard E. Neal and Paul McNamara are the coaches of the Andover Bantam "A" team and will accompany the team to Canada. The roster of the Andover team is as follows:

Goalies: Tom McNamara; Chris Porter.

Defense: Brian Ganley (Capt.), Penn Hulburd, David Duncan, Henry Zussman, Brad Penny.

accompanied by parents. Room visitations will be held between 7:15 and 7:30 and refreshments will be served following the gym demonstration.

Miler Faces Weekend Challenge

Leo Sheehan of 6 Memorial Cir., faces one of his greatest challenges as a miler for the Northeastern University track team this weekend as the Huskies host some of New England's stiffest competition for the annual Greater Boston Championships.

But challenges are something the 6', 135-pound junior handles well. Sheehan's best time before this season started was 4:24. His challenge then was to cut his time to the low 4:20's. He did that in almost nipping Holy Cross' outstanding miler Art Dulong at the tape.

Sheehan had an excellent cross country season as the Huskies number one man, so he entered the track season in good shape. He is likely to cut more seconds from his mile times, and he has been regarded from the start of the season as a strong contender for the GBC's and New England's.

Sheehan responds well to stiff competition. He captained cross country indoor and outdoor track at Andover High School in his senior year.

Sheehan's performance in college has brought high praise from N.U. track coach Irwin Cohen. "Len is a strong runner," Cohen said. "The good thing about him is the way he keeps improving." That will be increasingly important, as Sheehan has another year of competition after this season.

Meanwhile, he is making himself known around Boston. He has helped the Huskies to four wins thus far this season as against only a pair of losses to Eastern track powers Harvard and St. John's. With his ability, potentiality and consistency, Sheehan is likely to turn in an outstanding performance in the Greater Boston.

JH Principal Criticized

Committeewoman Virginia Cole registered shock and disapproval Tuesday of what she termed Principal William Hart's "crash program" on drug abuse being presented at the junior high school this week.

Mrs. Cole said that Hart gave a group of phys-ed and science teachers only nine calendar days to come up with a program and no time to prepare other teachers to present it.

She called Hart's program a "slap in the face" for Superintendents Edward Erickson and Vaughn Clapp, who are planning a long-range education program involving a town-school committee.

Mrs. Cole stated on Wednesday that one of the movies shown at the junior high school, was one which both High School Principal Philip Wormwood, and the teen-age panel on drug abuse there disapproved of as too "melodramatic" to be effective.

Pretty shoulders and a lovely swan neck and sculptured chin deserve to be displayed by any woman fortunate enough to have them. If these are happily among your assets, don't keep them hidden. Party dresses that show them off, will turn the head of any man. If you are also blessed with beautifully shaped ears, call attention to them with glittering drop earrings. Note: Don't forget to make up your neck and shoulders just as carefully as you do your face. Smooth your foundation over neck and shoulders, blend it in evenly and dust lightly with powder. Also, make certain that your hair is done in a becoming fashion. You can be assured of this when you come to CAPILLO HAIR STYLISTS, 2 Riverina Rd., Shawsheen-Andover. Open Daily 9-6. Fri. 9-8. Andover Actors Star In Garrett Players' Mystery

Two Andover residents, Barry T. Low and Richard E. Mahoney, will play prominent roles in the Garrett Players' second production of the season, "Catch Me If You Can," a mystery-comedy by Weinstock and Gilbert which will be presented Feb. 16, 17 and 18 at Turn Hall, 44 Park St., Lawrence.

Barry Low will play the lead role, making his first appearance in a straight dramatic part. An accomplished musician, the Andover High School graduate was instrumental winner and grand prize winner in talent shows there in 1962 and 1963 respectively. He was also student director of the high school acappella choir and participated in the senior class musical. In 1962 he was selected for the Northeast District Chorus, and for two summers he served as organist for the Central Methodist Church, Lawrence.

Low earned a bachelor degree in music education from Lowell State College in 1967. As a student there he had played leading roles in "Oklahoma!", "Guys and Dolls" and "Golden Apple", and directed the college MAA show in 1967. During the summer of 1967 he joined the Concordia Youth Chorale on a European Concert Tour, and in November of that year he played the lead in a shortened version of "The Music Man" for St. Michael's Parish, Lowell.

He is now employed as a music specialist for grades one through eight in the Wilmington Schools, and also directs youth and senior choirs at the First Congregational Church, Billerica. His family residence is at 32 Dufton Rd.

Richard Mahoney will play an important supporting role in "Catch Me If You Can". He, too, is an Andover High graduate, and attended Lowell State College as an English major, receiving his degree in 1964. He is a part president of Lowell State College Drama Club, played the lead in the college musical "Orpheus in the Underworld", and appeared in college productions of "The Bald Soprano", "A Marriage Proposal", "The Workhouse Ward" and "Kiss Me, Kate". He also directed "The Importance of Being Earnest" at Lowell State.

Mahoney has had considerable experience in theater, as actor, singer and dancer. He studied at the Actors' Workshop in Boston and has had two years of summer stock at the Arundel Opera Theatre, Kennebunkport, Maine. During the past year he worked with professional singing groups in Boston and surrounding areas, both as performer and song lyricist. Locally he has appeared in musical shows to benefit St. Francis' Seminary, Andover, and the Seton Guild, Lowell. He has been associated with the Garrett Players since the fall of 1967, when he directed a one-act play for presentation at Merrimack College.

Employed as an English instructor at Beverly High School, Mahoney makes his home at 514 S. Main St.

"Catch Me If You Can" is a suspense story laced with comedy. The plot gets off to a racing start when a young advertising executive, played by Barry Low, reports to police that his bride of two weeks has disappeared from their mountain honeymoon lodge.

Other members of the cast are Lenore Santangelo, Stephen Lipman, John Cote, Theresa Pokrivnak and Thomas Garland. The play is under the direction of John Timmons.

The technical crew consists of John Timmons, production manager; Donald Porter, Barbara Janson, Frances Fortune, Donna Basilin, Peggy Doyle, Merri Burke and Stephen Lipman, set construction; Vincent Bernard, Julie Arsenault and John Catlin, lighting; Enid Steele and Richard Wakeley, props; Ellen Cohen and Merrie Burke, prompters.

Three performances of "Catch Me If You Can" will be given on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 16 and 17 at 8:30 p.m. and on Sunday Feb. 18 at 6:30 p.m. at Turn Hall, 44 Park St., Lawrence.

Boston Pioneered In Transfusions

The technique of exchange transfusion used to help correct liver failure in the late Mike Kasperak, heart transplant patient in Palo Alto, Calif., was first attempted successfully in an adult in Boston at St. Elizabeth's Hospital by a team supported in part by a grant from the Massachusetts Heart Assn.

At the time, as reported in the New England Journal of Medicine for March 3, 1966, the procedure was used to save the life of a young physician in an advanced stage of liver failure who was not responding to the standard therapy then being used. The team, headed by Dr. Robert L. Berger, director of cardiac surgery, decided to try the exchange transfusion as a last resort as indicated by the gravity of the patient's condition. A second transfusion was done 24 hours after the first, and signs of recovery became apparent during the next two days. The patient's progress thereafter was excellent, and he is now fully recovered.

In this procedure, a total exchange of blood is made according to a carefully regulated time schedule. In the process, the toxic agents responsible for the liver failure are removed. Similar total exchange transfusions have been done successfully for some years with Rh-incompatible infants, but this was the first instance of its being used in adults.

Since then this technique has been used both at St. Elizabeth's and elsewhere on a very limited basis, but is still considered a measure of last resort. Experts believe a great deal more study must be undertaken both with the technique itself and with the other measures used in conjunction with it, according to Dr. Berger and his associates, before it can be applicable in any but the most serious case.

Blizzard Safety Measures

1. Avoid Overexertion and Exposure - Exertion from attempting to push your car, shovel heavy drifts and perform other difficult chores during the strong winds, blinding snow, and bitter cold of a blizzard may cause a heart attack - even for persons in apparently good physical condition.
2. Stay in your Vehicle - Do not attempt to walk out of a blizzard. Disorientation comes quickly in blowing and drifting snow. Being lost in open country during a blizzard is almost certain death. You are more likely to be found and more likely to be sheltered in your car.
3. Keep Fresh Air In Your Car - Freezing wet snow and wind-driven snow can completely seal the passenger compartment.
4. Beware The Gentle Killers - Carbon Monoxide and Oxygen

Starvation - Run the motor and heater sparingly and only with the down wind window open for ventilation.

5. Exercise - Clap hands and move arms and legs vigorously from time to time and do not stay in one position for long.

6. Turn on Dome Light at Night - This will make the vehicle visible to work crews.

7. Keep Watch - Do not permit all occupants of the car to sleep at once.

8. Above all... Don't Panic.

Be sure your home is properly sealed against the winter rain and cold of those blustery winter days. First check the exterior of your home for caulking leaks or areas where caulking is dried out or chipped. Scrape out the old compound and make sure the surface is clean, dry and free of dust and grease. Clean greasy surfaces with mineral spirits or a similar spirit. Dust off masonry surfaces with a stiff bristled brush. Most caulking compounds should not be applied below 40 degrees or during rainy weather, as these conditions can cause failure of the compound to adhere and perform as specified.

West "A" Leads ACBL Juniors

The Andover Church Basketball League completed its fourth week of activity Monday night at the junior high gym. As a result of this most recent action, West Parish 'A' is in sole possession of first place in the Junior Division with a 4-0 slate, while West Parish 'B' 4-0, St. Augustine 'A' 3-0 and Christ 3-0 are in a three-way dog-fight for the top spot in the intermediate sector.

In Junior games, West 'A' thumped St. Augustine 'A', 28-4, with Greg Brown scoring 13 points, Dave Vivian 10, Bob Scribner and Wayne Couture 2 apiece and Mark "Wilt" Conlon 1 to pace the winning attack. Bob Driscoll hooped four points for the losers, now 1-3 on the season.

St. Augustine 'D' 3-1 knocked St. Augustine 'B' 3-1 from the unbeaten ranks with a defensive 9-3 victory. Tom LaPointe had 3 points for the winners while Keith and Glen Verrette and Brian LaPointe each tossed in 2. Warren Filz notched 2 points and Steve Royal 1 for the losers.

In another defensive battle, St. Augustine 'C' took the measure of West Parish 'B' by a 7-2 count. Jim Loscutoff canned 3 and Joe McAndrew 2 for the winners, now 2-2, while Bob MacMackin slipped in the lone West Parish 2-2 bucket and Mark Hewett and Scott Alden sparked the defense.

Baptist 3-1 came from behind in the second half once again to nose out Free, 10-8. Ricky Cherry, division scoring leader hooped 4 points for Baptist, S. Evans contributed 3 and R. Stedman and J. Robinson each had 2 for the winners. For Free 1-3 a hard luck squad which has now dropped three games by three or fewer points, Tom Bunnell had 3 points, Dave Coulthard and Dave Chapman 2 markers apiece and Mark Hamilton added a free throw.

In the final Junior tilt, Christ 1-3 gained its first victory by blanking St. Roberts 0-4 by a 13-0 score. Alan Robinson swished 6 points, D. Lockwood had 4, S. Dawe added one basket and W. Cunniff had 1 point for the winners. Larry and John Weitz sparked St. Roberts along with Chemaly, Connelly and Cooney.

The individual scoring chase has tightened now, with Ricky Cherry of Baptist leading with 33 points, Dave Vivian of West 'A' a close second at 31, Greg Brown of West 'A' third with 30 points, Alan Robinson of Christ fourth with 22 points, Tom LaPointe of St. Augustine 'D' has thrown in 19 points and Billy Haskell of St. Augustine 'B' has 18 and Tom Bunnell of Free 17.

In the Intermediate Division, West Parish 'B' survived its roughest test thus far in beating St. Augustine 'B' by a 25-18 score. Vinnie Bruno canned 7 points, Chris Post 5 and Captain Art Nichols and Alan Hill 4 each for the winners. The losers Mike Fanning captured game scoring honors with 10 points.

South won its first game, topping winless St. Roberts behind the 18-point shooting of Tod Nowell, Kurt Schlott added 10 points for the winners. Pat McGrath dunked 19 for St. Roberts to pace all scorers, while A. Tisbet contributed 6.

In the final Intermediate match, St. Augustine 'A' rumbled past the West Parish 'A', 71-26, Division scoring ace Kevin Connors poured in 28 points and Bill Timmons delivered 12 for the winners. Henry Couture stuffed 10, Steve Olney 8, Barry Westaway 6 and Karl Harig 2 for West, Connors' 28 points was the single game high this year.

In the Intermediate scoring race, Connors is far in front with 63 points, Chris Post of West 'B' is next with 46, Bill Timmons of St. Augustine 'A' has 36, Pat McGrath of St. Roberts 35, Art Nichols and Bruce Gilday of West 'B' 32 and 30 points respectively and Mike Fanning of St. Augustine 'B' has 29 markers.

Over-30 Butterflies Score

In Over-30 League play this week, Doug Anderson's Butterflies soared to a new league high of 59 points, winning their first game of the season. The Northeast team, urged by manager Kevin Murphy, made a notable fourth period effort, but fell short with only 43 tallies.

Bill Lucey was top Butterfly with 20 points, 12 in the final frame and takes over the league's high score honors to date. Against this action, Northeast found itself fighting an "extra effort" opposition.

In the first game at South School Dick Marciano and the Strobes topped Alan Maxwell and his Pick Ups, 49-44. A late league entry, the Pick Ups let themselves down just enough in the third quarter to set the stage for a five point deficit at the final whistle.

And finally, the Hornets got a proper dusting. The Sweepers came to work and left their opposition breathing hard in a decidedly one-sided 45-32 upset.

The Hornets found themselves trying throughout the game to catch a well-prepared Al Wilson and Dick White, both playing great ball.

This week, the Strobes will host the Brooms during the first game at South School, followed by a game between the Hornets and the Butterflies. At Sanborn, Northeast's birds will take on the Pick Ups.

Not All Bad

Once again Town Hall employees have had to take a backseat.

Pressures on the municipal budget, largely to satisfy the needs of the school department, have forced the town manager and Board of Selectmen to re-examine earlier plans for construction of a new town office building and advise that the project be abandoned for the time being.

The recommendation is prudent, but it means that Town Hall employees are stuck again with the short end of the stick. Working conditions in the town building hardly meet modern standards.

Any move that delays construction of a new municipal office building right in the heart of the business district cannot be all bad, however. The Selectmen could hardly have planned to locate the building on a more inappropriate site.

The Town Hall block, where the building was to have been set, is long and narrow. It is surrounded by traffic congestion and blocked in on all sides by commercial construction. Plans that would turn Barnard Street into a tree shaded mall lined with small shops and offices, do away with parking in front of the present Town Hall and eliminate two-way traffic on Park Street would do more to add to the charm and accessibility of the downtown area than construction of a building that would continue to bring town hall employees and municipal business right into the center.

Perhaps by the time the town is ready to proceed with the office building project, there will be support in the Board of Selectmen for a location overlooking The Park or somewhere else in mid-town that will do something for the overall appearance of the community in addition to eliminating more problems than it creates.

The long struggle is ended. After very nearly five years of work, frustration and controversy, the new senior high school building is finally swarming with students and teachers — almost as many of them already as the three-story structure was designed to house.

The building is a credit to Andover and to the educators, the building committee and the town manager that were involved with the planning and construction. It has proved an expensive project, in part, no doubt because of the backing and filling, the many changes and delays in a period of rising costs. The building is, nevertheless, practical and functional. The money spent has gone into construction, materials and equipment rather than ostentation.

Now it is time for a show of appreciation. The job is not altogether completed: the playfields remain a problem and there will be the inevitable details to wrap up before the building is officially offered to the School Committee for acceptance. The building committee deserves prompt commendation, however.

At Town Meeting next month, when the moderator calls for "any other business", voters should be prepared to pay special tribute to Robert McIntyre and the members of his committee: Mrs. Dudley Fitts, C. Lincoln Giles, Frederick A. Higgins, William E. Moriarty and Walter N. Webster.

They have given more of themselves in public service these past five years than many citizens give in a lifetime.

Well Done

Last week Alfred W. Fuller wrote his final decision as a member of the Zoning Board of Appeals, ending almost twelve years service in one of the most thankless unpaid jobs this town has to offer.

Members of the Zoning Board are "dammed if they do and damned if they don't", and as chairman of the board in the later years of his service, Al Fuller had to take an extra portion of abuse.

Few people realize the hours of time that go into the work of a quasi-legal body like the Zoning Board. In addition to sitting at public hearings, members must frequently make weekend visits to properties involved in zoning cases and they must deliberate until they meet the requirement of the law for a unanimous decision.

A dozen years is a long time to accept such an assignment. Alfred Fuller is to be commended both for the quality of his service and for his loyalty.

Nature's Ways

Some Robins Are Foul Weather Friends

By Wayne Hanley

We can expect a flood of newspaper stories predicting an early spring, since robins abound in New England this winter.

During some thaw in January or February, one of these robins will surely hop across a lawn and the local newspaper will hear about it. Actually, the "early-robin-story" happens every year. But this year, the Maine Audubon Society observers counted 234 robins in the state, so the winter robin crop throughout the six states must be abundant.

If the average reader were more observant, newspapers probably would be receiving robin calls already. The Nashoba Valley Bird Club in Massachusetts, for instance, counted more than 50 robins in one multiflora rose hedge in Littleton. Robins seem to be in every woodland swamp in New England this winter. But the average person never seems to notice them until they appear upon the lawn.

The great chronicler of New England birds, Edward H. Forbush, commented that: "most people do not know that many robins spend the entire winter in New England, where they roost among the evergreens in swamps, feed on winter berries and come out into the fields occasionally when the snow has vanished during a thaw . . . In some winters when persistent berries are abundant in the north, hundreds of robins pass the winter in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. . ."

Mrs. Deborah V. Howard, a research associate of the Hathaway School of Conservation Education, says that robins have a surprising winter hardiness for a bird species that normally spends its winter in the south.

"Robins have remained alive well into December in Alaska," Mrs. Howard reports. "There is a record of one robin surviving through December 22 in downtown Fairbanks despite temperatures of 20 degrees below zero. The bird roosted each night over a steam pipe, however."

"Brina Kessel of the University of Alaska reports seeing a robin on the University campus on Dec. 10, 1964. The temperature was 50 degrees below zero with an icy fog. The bird was huddled on a limb. Its head was covered with hoarfrost."

"It is doubtful, however, that any robin survives the entire winter in Alaska."

The robin roosting over a steam pipe recalls the brown thrasher that survived the winter of 1960 by roosting each night on the back of a hog in a Block Island, R. I., barn. Any extra heat helps such wintering birds to conserve their energy.

A favorite food of wintering robins is the small blue berry that red cedar trees grow. Thus, the red cedar provides both food and shelter for wintering robins. Other favorite foods are the hips, or berries, of the multiflora rose, the berries of American holly and the berries of the holly known as "black alder." The apples in abandoned orchards and on ornamental crabapple trees also attract wintering robins.

If a robin appears at your feeder, it can be kept in the neighborhood by feeding it raisins. Robins will not eat grain.

Although Mrs. Howard does not have facilities for answering correspondence, she would appreciate hearing from anyone who knows about the winter presence of a robin anywhere in New England. Reports will be forwarded to her if they are addressed to the Massachusetts Audubon Society, South Great Rd., Lincoln, Mass. 01773.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

I would like to express through the Andover Townsman the appreciation of the officers and men of Detachment V, Army Advisory Group, Military Assistance Command to Thailand, to the kind people of Andover for the many warm greetings that we received from them at Christmastime. Your thought and kindness did much to brighten our holiday season, even though thousands of miles separate us from our wives, our children, our families.

We thank you for your remembering us, and trust that 1968 will be a prosperous year for you and for Andover.

Robert A. Watters Jr.
Captain, United States Army

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN

The papers report that the purpose and intent of Andover's zoning laws are to be assaulted again: In the name of progress to be sure. We are told that Andover's need today is high rise buildings.

Standard International Corp. wants room to expand up within the village area of Andover, as if there were not another acre of land available. But nothing is said that as buildings become higher, or spread wider such as those that Gillette is inflicting upon Andover, the cost of fire protection mounts by leaps and bounds. Already town meeting is to be asked to kick in $75,000 plus large long term interest payments for a single piece of fire equipment needed mostly because of the growing presence of so called "tax profitable" commercial and industrial buildings. Nor is a word said about the large added costs of traffic control, street maintenance, water production and sewage, to name but a few of the costs inflicted upon the small home tax payer for the benefit of wealthy industrial entities.

There is much to support the opinion that if the expansion plans of Standard International become only partly fact, the one story it wants added to its headquarters shall be inadequate within a few years. Therefore it is suggested that Standard's board of directors face reality.

Doing that they would be encouraged to find land now, say over on River Road near Route 93. Standard should buy up to 30 acres then proceed to build a model office building where all would appreciate it. In addition it should also build a new campus there for the Andover Institute of Business now a cause of traffic congestion and other problems on the village's Main Street.

Standard International, to make amends for its thoughtless assault upon our zoning laws, should buy the building it is in now and present it to town meeting as an annex for town hall thus assuring that the original town building shall be adequate for many years and, incidentally, solve a large portion of the Village's costly traffic congestion and costs.

With Standard International, as with the rest of us, self help and charity without recourse to assaulting our laws begins at home.

A Corporate Introduction

Marketing Revolution Predicted

A second revolution in the marketing of meats is on the way, according to Dr. Aaron Brody of the food and flavor section, life sciences division of Arthur D. Little Inc., Cambridge.

Dr. Brody was one of two ADL speakers discussing the future of meat marketing at a recent seminar in Ames, Iowa.

He and Eugene Schertz told the seminar that using modern equipment and techniques will make it possible for centralized meat packers to deliver branded, uniform cuts to display cases with the assurance that they will maintain high quality for 10 to 14 days. Their conclusions come from a five-month study of new developments in meat preservation and packaging technologies sponsored by the Iowa Development Commission.

The pattern for the kind of distribution described by the ADL researchers has been established already for processed meats ranging from bacon to salami, whose shelf life is longer than red meat. Once found only in delicatessens, standardized brand-named processed meats are now in every supermarket, and the housewife knows that a brand X salami she buys today has the same quality as the one she bought last week, perhaps in the next town.

By contrast, an "eye roast" bought in Ames, Iowa may be quite different from an "eye roast" bought in Boston, for example. In some markets, the name may not even be familiar - cutting in the supermarket is up to the meat manager, and he and the housewife may not share the same vocabulary.

In the course of their research, the ADL team investigated the economics of such new meat-processing techniques developed by the industry as dehydration, freeze drying, irradiation, microwave pasteurization, and freezing. They found that, while such technology is now used successfully for specialty items, it is simply not yet economical to apply it to the mass distribution of red meats.

Dr. Brody, a resident at 17 Hemlock Rd., joined Arthur D. Little in 1967 after six years with Mars Inc. and its M&M Candies' division. Prior to that he was a research food technologist with Whirlpool Corp. He has also worked with Raytheon Co. and General Foods.

He holds both SB and doctor's degrees from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Philharmonic Will Perform At High School

Nicholas Van Slyck of Cambridge, director and musical conductor of the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, has returned after several months sick leave, and will direct the orchestra in its public concert Sunday, Feb. 18 at Andover High School Auditorium, Shawsheen Rd., Andover. The concert is scheduled to begin at 3:30 p.m. and several popular classical selections will be offered during the hour long program. Conductor Van Slyck, who was forced to stop rehearsals early in the season because of illness, has been rehearsing with the orchestra Monday evenings at the Andover auditorium.

Tickets will be available at the

"Symposium" Is Conversation On Love

The topic for the next meeting of the Great Books Discussion Program (Tuesday, February 13) is Plato's Symposium. The Symposium is one of the best examples of the dialogue in all of literature, both from the standpoint of form and from that of communication. It is a great conversation on the subject of love. The mind is drawn step by step up "the ladder of love" until with the discussion by Socrates we find love identified with the search for truth and the participation in the beautiful. How important is love? Do you love a person or a person's good qualities? Why do you do good? These are but a few of the questions asked and argued by this book. They are questions you are answering every day in what you do and what you do not do. The local group of the Great Books Foundation is constantly looking for new points of view. Why not attend?

Tinkers N' Such

What's Your Problem?

Segregating The Old Is Something New

"WHAT'S YOUR PROBLEM" is a story that is almost a classic. In a Swiss town it was decided to build a beautiful housing project up on a hill, overlooking a valley. The town authorities had decided that what the old people really needed was peace and quiet and a beautiful view. Only the people who lived in the apartment didn't stay on their balconies to look at the gorgeous view. As long as they were able to climb up and down that hill, they went to the railroad station, which was noisy, dirty . . . but lively.

The idea of segregating old people into retirement towns, huge sub-divisions for "golden agers" and even on special cruise ships ("with medical supervision" . . . the ads say) is a relatively new one. In the old days, grandma continued to live on the farm, and when she could no longer do the work, her daughters or her son's wife took over. She could sit in the rocking chair and tell stories to the grandchildren. Grandpa might no longer be able to do the plowing, but he still could repair furniture, whittle toys, and give advice on next year's crop.

Even in a city neighborhood, the old people usually remained in their apartments. The young people might just move a few houses down the street. Three-generation families were not considered rare. If everybody didn't live together (and in an urban society they usually didn't), they at least got together regularly in large reunions.

Family counselors know that the old system had many advantages, both for the old people and for the young. Everybody needs the stimulation of new and fresh ideas, and new and fresh faces. Differences in outlook, in ways of living and in interest add spice to life.

Many of the older people who come to Family Service feel isolated from life. Another word would be that they feel segregated. Because they seem to have lost contact with the world of the young, they feel as if they had been imprisoned in the world of the old, a word that is full of the past and that has no future.

Family counselors also know that old people do need to make certain living arrangements that are different from those of young people. Usually they can no longer keep up large houses or apartments. Long flights of stairs become a problem, as do yards that require a lot of mowing and other upkeep.

But just because these people have a lot of requirements and problems in common, it does not mean that they are all alike and that they need all the same things.

Many an old person has complained to a counselor: "My children treat me as if I were the child . . . as if I didn't know what was best for me any more."

There may be some older people who really want to live in a "retirement village", who find children and young people too noisy and disturbing. But there are others who crave the company and stimulation of the young. This is a decision the old person himself has to be able to make, sometimes perhaps with the help of a counselor.

And if the old person would like to have the opportunity to live in a multi-generation society, it should be possible for him to do so. To deprive the young of the experience, sense of humor and wisdom of the old would be as unfortunate as to deprive the old of the excitement, liveliness and adventure of the young.

If that railroad station had not been in the middle of that little town, all those old people might just stayed up on their hill, exchanging symptoms. Or they might have decided to move to a town that had a railroad station.

Doherty Blasts Manager

The raked-over issue of the playing fields erupted again Tuesday night. Building Committee Chairman Robert McIntyre informed the School committee by letter that his committee wants to move as fast as possible to put the playing fields at the high school, into acceptable condition. McIntyre said that Town Manager Richard Bowen has provided funds in his '68 budget for repair or recovery of the fields by Highway Supt. Stanley Chlebowski at the Building Committee request. Director of Athletics Donald Dunn was asked his opinion, and he stated that Chlebowski knows his business and is well-qualified to recover the fields provided he has the money, manpower and equipment to do it. Committee-woman Virginia Cole stated that the equipment is provided for in the building fund.

Chairman Louis Galbiati was unsuccessful in getting Dunn to agree to discuss plans and schedules with the town manager. Both Dunn and Committeeman William Doherty expressed concern that only the varsity football and baseball fields, and none of the general fields for student use, would be repaired. During the exchange, Doherty asked "How do you get a man to do something he's determined not to do?" Doherty said he was referring to the town manager and asked the press to quote him.

Town Manager Bowen told the TOWNSMAN Wednesday that Chlebowski is making plans to start work on all the fields as soon as the frost leaves the ground. He also said that the architect, Mo-Del (the last sub-contractor on the job) a landscape engineer and experts from Essex Aggie all have stated that with normal turf management, the three general purpose playing areas will be in perfectly good condition, possibly by late spring, certainly by fall.

Horticulture Show Invites Amateurs

An enlarged schedule of amateur horticultural entries is being planned as a major exhibit in the Massachusetts Horticultural Society's 97th New England Spring Garden and Flower Show at Suffolk Downs, East Boston, Mass., March 16-24.

New this year are challenge classes for mid-century lilies and begonias of the Richardsiana variety, as well as collections of plants belonging to the same genus. These augment the standard competitive categories for potted bulbs, hanging baskets, flowering and topiary plants, window sill and greenhouse collections.

Another innovation is a demonstration greenhouse planned for the novice. Included will be essential equipment and growing aids in addition to a plant collection suitable for cool growing conditions.

A gallery of bonsai specimens staged by their owners in individual niches also will be on view. The most ambitious display ever assembled by the three year old Bonsai Study Group of the Society, the up-coming collection features landscapes, and single specimens ranging from six months to 40 years in age.

To insure freshness and provide variety, competitive displays in the amateur section will be changed during the show. They will be judged within their classes, and then become eligible for the top awards to be given at the show's climax. These are the Wheatland and Cruso cups, first presented last year.

Entries, which close Feb. 15, are open without fee to all amateur gardeners who need not be members of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

Club Planning Dinner Dance

In keeping with the traditional gaiety of the pre-Lenten season, the South Church Couples Club is sponsoring a Mardi Gras dinner dance at the Church on Saturday, Feb. 10 at 7 p.m.

The party, for which costume is optional but mask required, will feature a local dance band and a buffet prepared by students of the Greater Lawrence Vocational High School.

Reservations may be made with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Taylor, co-chairmen.

Early Salem Is Club Topic

Cille Blackwood will show slides of mansions, costumes and furniture and give a glimpse of the life of old Salem in the early 1800's at the American Heritage meeting of the Shawshen Village Women's Club on Friday, Feb. 9.

Members and guests will gather at 2 p.m. in Amos Blanchard House, 97 Main St. for refreshments before the slide-lecture. Non-members may attend upon payment of a guest fee.

Refreshment chairman Mrs. Justin Curry will be assisted by Mrs. J. Everett Collins, Mrs. William Poland, Mrs. Michael Lane and Mrs. John Harley.

Two Attend Workshops

Mrs. Aline Colton Whiteside of 165 Shawshen Rd. and Miss Elizabeth M. Russell of 78 Chestnut St. attended a day of workshops at Simmons College on Feb. 3 as part of the college's 101st mid-winter alumnae council meeting. The workshops offered the nearly 200 attending alumnae a chance to share information on better ways to serve the college.

Mrs. Edward Suchodolski

(Boris and Milton)

Suchodolski - O'Shea

St. Augustine's Church was the setting for the wedding of Catherine O'Shea of Andover and Edward Suchodolski of Lawrence at 11 a.m. on Jan. 20. The bride is the daughter of Dr. James A. O'Shea, 11 William St. and Mrs. Robert Adkins, 131 Main St. Mr. Suchodolski is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Suchodolski, 29 Mt. Vernon St., Lawrence.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white appliqued-on Empire net over white peau de soie. It was styled with long lace sleeves in a coat silhouette. The gown had a jewel neckline and a chapel train and was worn with a cathedral veil of silk illusion. The bride's bouquet was of gardenias.

Miss Patricia O'Shea, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore an emerald green velveteen gown with a bateau neckline and bell sleeves. The embroidered Empire bodice was attached to an A-Line skirt with a full gathered back. She wore a matching velvet French bow and carried white roses. Miss Kellie O'Shea, attended her sister as flowergirl. Her dress matched the maid of honor's, and she carried a basket of flowers.

Ronald T. Mahul of Lawrence was best man while Arthur Dennis O'Shea, brother of the bride, and Peter B. McKallagat both of Lawrence served as ushers.

The new Mrs. Suchodolski is a graduate of Andover High School and St. Vincent Hospital School of Nursing. She is a nurse at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Spring Plans Are Announced

Joan E. Lebow

Mrs. Harvey Lebow, 6 William St., and Harvey Lebow, Brown Court, Methuen, announce the engagement and coming marriage of their daughter, Joan Elizabeth to Laurence A. Brewer Jr., of Boston.

Miss Lebow, a graduate of the Pike School, Andover High School and Simmons College, is presently with the State Street Bank and Trust Co. in Boston.

Mr. Brewer is a graduate of Central High School, LaCrosse, Wis., and Columbia University. He is a district sales manager with Parents' Home Service Institute Inc.

A late March wedding is planned.

Garden Clubbers Meet Wednesday

There will be a meeting of the Northern district of the Garden Club Federation of Mass. on Feb. 14 at Alumni Field House, Essex Agricultural & Technological School, Hathorne, Mass.

The program will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will be followed by guest speaker, Robert Fitzgerald, discussing the film, "Pruning Practices", which will be shown at 10 a.m.

There will also be a panel of four Garden Club members, experienced in organizing and executing a House Tour. The panel will present suggestions and participate in a question and answer period.

All Garden Club members and friends are invited to attend.

The trouble with the income-tax reduction is that it will stimulate business just enough to put everybody in a higher tax bracket.

Best Buys

The first sign of "spring" has made its appearance in the Bay State with the arrival of the first shipments of apples from controlled atmosphere storage reports the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture. The great majority of C/A apples, which have been literally "asleep" in sealed storage since early last Fall, will be released at intervals until early summer. While C/A apples are not yet abundant enough to make the "best buys" listings, standard storage apples are still plentiful and reasonably priced, with Macs, Cortlands and Red Delicious leading the parade. Greenhouse lettuce is plentiful and economical as are these other native vegetables; greenhouse watercress, leeks, parsnips, potatoes, turnips, Blue Hubbard and butternut squash.

Egg prices are low, with extra large the best buy, followed by large and jumbo in that order. Native broilers are abundant and low-priced once more.

At times we are convinced that secrecy is the best publicity.

Andover Native Is Olympic Skier

(A TOWNSMAN News Feature)

Andover Winter Olympic fans have a chance to watch a hometown athlete represent his country in the 1968 Winter Olympic games this week.

Charles Kellogg, a 28 year-old native of Andover, who attended the junior high school and Phillips Academy here, is skiing with the U. S. team in Nordic (cross-country and jumping events).

Friends recognized Kellogg, son of Mrs. Waters Kellogg, 59 Phillips St., marching with the U. S. Olympic Ski Team in the opening ceremonies Tuesday in Grenoble, France, where the Olympic Torch has been lit opening the international sports classic.

Wednesday he competed in his first event, the 30-kilometer cross-country race, in which a large field of skiers are started at half-minute intervals for the timed 18.6 mile run. Fifteen and 50-kilometer cross-country races will run later in the winter games schedule.

This is Charles Kellogg's second chance to ski for the U.S. in international competition. Four years ago, while in Army service, he was an alternate on the Army's Biathlon (combination skiing and shooting) team at the Winter Olympics in Scandinavia, and was one of the American skiers in the World Army Games in Norway.

Ordinarily, that is when not skiing in the Winter Olympics, Kellogg is a businessman in Cambridge, where he and his wife, the former Gillian Shaw of Concord, make their home. Most countries subsidize their Olympic athletes to train year-round, but Kellogg keeps in shape with hour-long runs along the Charles River after work. International Business Machines Inc. has extended him a leave of absence from its data process sales office in Cambridge to be in Grenoble.

According to his mother, Mrs. Waters Kellogg, Charles didn't get seriously interested in skiing until the last year or so of high school, which he spent at Holderness Academy, Plymouth, N. H.

He began specializing in Nordic skiing at Williams College, where he was captain of both the ski team and the cross-country track team.

Mrs. Kellogg really credits his four years as a Hutman for the Appalachian Mountain Club with developing his stamina, endurance and strong legs.

At any rate, Mrs. Kellogg, well-known as a bird-watcher in these parts, is now having a wonderful time as an Olympic-watcher on TV, courtesy the Early-bird satellite.

Danton Realty Proposes Office Park

Danton Realty Trust officials outlined for the Selectmen this week a proposal for rezoning a controversial wedge of land on the West side of Interstate Route 93 for restricted use as an office and professional park district.

John Davidson and Phidias Dantos told the board that since the some 11 acres of land is just across the highway from the Internal Revenue Service Center, the reclassification is justified.

The land in question is zoned for residential development, but because it abuts a major highway, it has not attracted homebuilders. Last year plans were presented at Town Meeting for development of garden apartments on the site, but voters refused to rezone the area for that project after West Andover residents voiced objections.

Danton Realty already has an article in the March warrant proposing that the land be rezoned for general business, which would permit the office park envisioned. The company has since decided, however, that a more specific proposal, legally restricting the use of the land for other than office construction, would be preferable. Such an article is being prepared for a supplemental warrant.

The two developers said this week that Standard International Co., which has its national headquarters in Danton's Elm Square building, is among prospective tenants for the office park. Andover Institute of Business was listed as another prospective tenant.

Danton has prepared an office-professional park proposal modeled after one drawn in Wellesley after a similar situation arose there some years ago. Andover's present zoning bylaws include provisions for industrial and apartment districts, but there is no provision for office parks.
